

MHA

When you join MHA as a CIC Midwest member, you become part of a state-wide, non-profit trade organization that promotes the highest standards in the management and maintenance of multi-family housing. MHA was founded in 1967 and is one of the strongest and most emulated housing associations in the country. MHA has a reputation for excellence, professionalism and leadership.

CIC Midwest will enhance your community's success.

Are you a Board Member or Homeowner in a Common Interest Community (CIC)?

A Common Interest Community is an owner-occupied condominium, townhome or homeowner association. If you live in a CIC, the Minnesota Multi Housing Association wants to help you learn how to: Save money on maintenance and management; Reduce risks for your board and homeowners; Protect the value of your property; and Manage your community more effectively. We invite you to become a CIC Midwest Member.

The CIC Midwest Advantage

Education

Our CIC Midwest Lunch & Learn meetings provide valuable training for you and your board members. You wouldn't try to fly a multi-million dollar plane without training, so don't try to manage a multi-million dollar community without training. We also offer professional designations: CCAM (Certified Community Association Manager) and an advanced course, ACCAM. All of your board members receive an electronic 34-page Board Blitz Kit. You can use it at your board meetings, at your convenience. It's an excellent way to orient your officers and board members about their roles and responsibilities.

Resources

All your board members receive their own subscription to CIC Midwest News, the quarterly publication full of essential management, maintenance and legal information. Many of our members keep their issues in a three-ring binder, then print out the archive article list available on our website, www.CICMidwest.com. They place the archive list in the front of the notebook and then they are able to reference any article by topic. You can also have previous archive articles emailed to you, so you can circulate them among your homeowners or reprint them in your community newsletter.

Legislative

We keep members informed about issues that affect Common Interest Communities at all levels of government. We have strength in numbers. Our over 2,100 members have accomplished things together that none of us could do individually. We have a large, collective voice in this industry and are able to look out for your community's interests.

Networking

The CIC industry leaders are here. Meet, network with, and take classes from the individuals who set the standard for excellence. Being with the best helps you become your best.

Products/Services

Our exciting fall convention and product show has 140 vendor companies and 500 vendor staff members to show you the latest products and services for your community. You can also find vendors at our Product/Service Showcase, at educational and networking meetings, and by using our online Directory.

Mission Statement: It is MHA's mission to help CIC Members achieve the industry standard of excellence in professional CIC management through education; and to provide the tools needed to succeed in daily CIC management, including information, resources and networking.
