The CIC Midwest Advantage

- CIC Midwest is dedicated to your professional development. Become a meeting speaker, write an article for CIC Midwest News, teach a class, enter your properties in the MADACS Awards, get involved in committees, and gain high visibility in your industry. Your management company is listed in our online directory so self-managed associations looking to hire you can easily contact you.
- We keep you updated on management, maintenance and legal issues, as well as topical issues, through our Lunch & Learn Meetings, Fall Conference and Product Show, and other quality educational programs. You can also earn professional designations by taking our Certified Community Association Manager (CCAM) course and the advanced course, ACCAM.
- We offer strength in numbers. We keep you informed about issues that affect your business at all levels of government. With over 2,100 members, we have a large, collective voice in this industry and are able to look out for your communities' interests.
- CIC Midwest has an exciting fall product show and convention with 140 vendor companies and 500 vendor staff members to show you the latest products and services for your associations.
- We offer education for your board members so they can work more effectively with you. Our electronic Board Blitz kit lets you spend your valuable time managing properties, instead of re-educating new homeowners everytime a board turns over.

Mission Statement: It is MHA's mission to help CIC Midwest Members achieve the industry standard of excellence in professional CIC management through education; and to provide the tools needed to succeed in daily CIC management, including information, resources and networking.
